FEDERAL HOUSING FINANCE BOARD EXPANDS AVAILABILITY OF REGULATORY INFORMATION ON ITS WEBSITE

A new section of the Federal Housing Finance Board's Internet website gives the public greater access to a wide range of information on the agency's regulatory activities.

The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Reading Room is available here.

The searchable archives include access to the following decision documents from the Federal Housing Finance Board: Approval Letters, Chairman's Orders, Federal Register Notices, General Counsel Opinions, Managing Director's Orders, No Action Letters, Resolutions, Regulatory Interpretations, and Waivers.

The archive currently includes documents from 1995 to present. Documents dating back to the agency's creation in 1989 are expected to be added by mid-year.

In some cases, the format of the documents may have been changed and information, such as the names of institutions or individuals and dollar amounts, may have been removed in order to prepare the documents for public release.

All documents within the FOIA Reading Room are in Adobe Acrobat® (.PDF) format, and require Acrobat Reader® 5.0 or higher for viewing. Click here to download the Reader for free.

The Federal Housing Finance Board is an independent agency in the executive branch that oversees the safety and soundness and mission of the Federal Home Loan Bank System and its 12 district banks. The System is a government-sponsored enterprise created in 1932 to provide low-cost funding for housing finance.
